EVENT

A romantic and elegant wedding in a historic Boston landmark.

HIGHLIGHTS

The Boston Public Library was the perfect setting for Erin and Daniel's wedding. "We truly felt so lucky to get married at the Boston Public Library—an iconic institution in the city where my husband and I met and fell in love," said Erin. The couple embraced the romantic setting, surprising guests and appearing on the Juliet balcony just in time to say their vows! Library books made playful cocktail table centerpieces and the couple handcrafted their own escort cards to look like a library book check out card complete with their wedding date stamped on it. After dinner, there was a photo shoot for guests to participate in, which everyone really enjoyed. Then the photos were printed on site and became the favor for guests to take home with them.
